

We Were Almost

© 2019 Sophia Scott

The story starts, but I warn you, it ends too soon
No spoilers, there's nothing left to do
Potential wasted on pride,
Let me tell you how it would have blown your mind

Expense in the name of missed opportunity,
Untravelled, awaiting territory
X marked the spot for you and me,
We left that map, for no one to read

So, kiss me once for your father and twice for your mother
When you see your sister, please don't blow my cover
But send a blessing to your little brother
I can't say bye cause I never said hi
Why?

Cause we were almost the ones who fell in love in the summer
Sneaking around mutual friends undercover
Singing along to Don McLean and Taylor
Windows down, muffled sounds, we had each other

Almost
We were almost
But we won't
Cause we were almost

It's like dangling a carrot on a bunny's nose
You give a little, show interest then it goes
They love a chase, it can be said, but how can you chase what's already dead?
And I'll go on, let it go, out of sight, in turn, mind

So, miss me once for your present and twice for your future
When you realise no take back, no reputing
But send a blessing to your little brother
I'll hold my head high, no please don't cry
Why?

Cause we were almost the ones who fell in love in the summer,
Sneaking around mutual friends undercover
Singing along to Don McLean and Taylor
Windows down, muffled sounds, we had each other

Almost
We were almost

But we won't
Cause we were almost

And maybe I'm to blame
It takes one to know one
At midnight hours,
We let us go

I realise you were not
The one that got away
You were the one
I never had

Cause we were almost the ones who fell in love in the summer
Sneaking around mutual friends undercover
Singing along to Don McLean and Taylor, Windows down, muffled sound

We never had each other

We were almost the type to street dance at midnight
3am pancakes, we'd be on the next flight
Stomach hurting from laughing
It's so right

Almost
We were almost
But we won't
Cause we were almost